

I was speeding
through Cork,
I made an orange light
and followed on through a crossroads

stretching over a hill a head of me by a school was a narrow pothole ridden road

I heard the engine and then I saw a boy racer ahead
coming over the hill

I looked at the potholes on the road as it came roaring towards me

I decided I better get off the road, I pulled the brakes and pulled in

He came roarin' past

Boss oh Boss
